

Flowcrete's Top Flight Flooring Solution for Lufthansa

Flowcrete's position as a leading force in European flooring has taken a major step forward with a high profile installation in Malta.

The Cheshire-based flooring manufacturer - which recently secured the Queen's Award for Enterprise in the International Trade category - has been involved in the new-build of an extensive hangar facility for German aviation giant Lufthansa Technik, based at Malta International Airport.

Flowcrete and its Malta-based approved flooring contractor Flock Image, have been involved in the project for 18 months, installing a state-of-the-art floor finish across an area of 38,000 square metres.

Designed to expand Lufthansa Technik's operations at the site, the facility includes three separate hangars as well as all associated back shops, warehousing and infrastructure.

The new development was officially inaugurated by Maltese Prime Minister Lawrence Gonzi, who walked all over Flowcrete's floor to applaud Lufthansa Technik for its investment towards achieving excellence in high value added manufacturing.

Gonzi also congratulated the Maltese workforce, including those at Flock Image, who had played such a pivotal role in constructing the new high-tech facility.
